

Letter From Congressman L. P. Padgett.

enemy of yours and have never been. I am only a young man wanting to rise as high in life as I can and do not want to do so, only in a fair honest way. Say nothing about this letter and tell me the facts as you see them so I will know how to play my cards for the future. With best wishes, Respectfully,

J. Grady Jones.

Washington, D. C.

August 22, 1913

"Hon. J. Grady Jones,
Hurricane Mills, Tenn.

Dear Mr. Jones:

I am in receipt of your letter of August the 17th and 18th stating etc.,— In reply I beg to say there are several applicants for appointment as Postmaster at Waverly, and I have informed them that at the proper time I would give careful consideration to all applications, and it is my purpose to give such consideration to the applications which may be made for that appointment, and I cannot agree to your proposition.
Moreover, you are submitting to me a proposition which I should accept would have me select for recommendation for appointment as Postmaster not with reference to the merits or qualifications of the several applicants but to gain for myself a supposed personal advantage or benefit and also to commend to the President for such appointment not with reference to the merits of qualifications of the several applicants, but with a view to suppress or get rid of opposition to myself for reelection to Congress, and I cannot agree to do this under any circumstances for any supposed benefit or advantage it might seem to me. Moreover, the Act of Congress provides: "No candidate for Representative in Congress or for Senator of the United States shall promise any office or position to any person, or to use his influence or to give his support to any person, for any office or position for the purpose of procuring the support of such person or of any person, in his candidacy;" and it makes it an offense punishable by fine or imprisonment or both to violate the Act.
And under no circumstances would I agree to the proposition in your letter. It was my intention and purpose to give careful consideration to the applications of all persons seeking the appointment, and I would have considered your application with the others, but in view of your letter I must be frank, and plan with you and state that I cannot give any consideration to an application from you for appointment as Postmaster at Waverly for the reasons stated above, as you can readily see that any consideration I should give to the same would be attributed to the proposals in your letter.

Very truly,
L. P. PADGETT.

These letters speak for themselves and it appears that Mr.
Jones was perfectly willing and ready to see me continue in Congress if I would traffic with him the postoffice at Waverly.

As to how faithfully and efficiently I have looked after and represented my District, I leave to the judgment of the people.

Very truly,
L. P. PADGETT.

Taking Big Chances.

It is a great risk to travel without a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, as this preparation cannot be obtained on the train or steamships. Attacks of bowel complaint are often sudden and very severe, and everyone should go prepared for them. Obtainable everywhere.—adv.
